JORDAN'S PATENT MACHINE-CARVING and CHURCH-JOINERY WORKS, Belvedere-road, Lambeth.—The Proprietors of the above Works beg to return their best thanks to the Nobility, Architects, Builders, and the Public generally for the very liberal support they have received, and to assure them it will be their constant endeavour to deserve it.

In addition to the general machinery and carving business, they undertake Contracts to execute and fix every description of Joinery-work required in the fitting-up of Churches and Chapels, viz. carv'd and moulded benches, seatings, screens, pulpits, reading-desks, lecterns, sedilias, altar-rails, doors, tracery-fronts, reredoes, altar-tables, chairs, faldstools, organ-cases, moulded and carved cornices, together with tracery and moulded framings required in halls and the construction of elaborate staircases, chimney-pieces, floors, &c.

The Proprietors respectfully call the attention of Architects and all persons engaged in buildings to their new application of machinery to the inlaying of wainscot floors, doors, dados, hall and dining-room panelling, cornices, &c. specimens of which are being prepared for Dudley House, and can be seen at the works; also every description of carved work and mouldings required in the building trade. For prices and estimates apply to the manager upon the premises.

N.B. A richly-carved oak screen, which obtained the prize medal at the Great Exhibition, for sale.

FIRE-PROOF CONSTRUCTION.—FOX and BARRETT'S PATENT.—The great importance of fire-proof construction is shown by the recently published returns of fires in London during the past year, by which it appears that there is a considerable increase as compared with former years, the number actually exceeding 1,000, or an average of three per day.

This result affords strong corroboration of a fact stated upon high authority, THAT NO BUILDING IN WHICH TIMBER JOISTS ARE USED IS PRACTICALLY SECURE FROM THE DANGER OF FIRE; and when to this fact it is added that timber is also liable to dry-rot and the ravages of insects and vermin, for which it affords a ready harbour, the principles arising from the Patent under which we are authorized to operate

It becomes, then, worth the attention of those who are interested in building, to inquire whether materials of an imperishable nature cannot be substituted for timber in the construction of floors, &c., without involving additional cost: and attention is invited to a number of buildings of all classes, either finished or in course of erection, upon the above improved system, in which joists, either of rolled or cast iron, are substituted for timber, together with a solid superstructure of concrete, adapted to receive a finished surface of floor or roof of any kind.

Among the buildings at present in progress in London on this system is the new OTTEN HOSPITAL, an attempt to make providing accommodation station for 200 additional beds; and for buildings of this description and magnitude, as well as for PRIVATE DWELLING-HOUSES, OFFICES, WAREHOUSES, &c. it possesses very great advantages.

A detailed description of the system, estimates, and all further information, may be obtained on application to the Proprietor of the patent,

Mr. BARRETT (late Fox and Barrett),
13, York-buildings, Adelphi, whose offices form part of a building erected on this principle, and where specimens of the rolled iron joists may be seen.
